OCM Script Tracker

Managing Movie Scripts

In the busy world of TV and film production, anything that saves you time and hassle is worth its weight in gold...Script Tracker, then, is priceless.

It allows you to print named scripts for each and every person involved in the production, individually or as a group. Simply key in the names or group name (e.g. cast, lighting, sound etc), press the button and you're there!

No more messing about naming each script by hand, and more importantly, you'll know exactly who's had which script and when they received it. It will even save you money by reducing the number of unnecessary printed scripts.

Simplifying Script Production and Distribution

Script Tracker offers the production script team the unique ability to manage printed scripts where they can easily manage which production groups and individual users will receive a copy of the printed or emailed script.

Script Tracker has a easy to use user interface which allows the production representative to first of all select which script they wish to print. Prior to printing the script, the production representative can select any one of the following options:

- Select an individual group of receipt users such as a group called "Lighting"
- Select a number of groups such as " Lighting, Engineers and Cast"
- Select individual users within a group
- Create a print and electronic version of the script
- Chose the watermark location and density
- Include variable text of your choice which will be water marked on each page

Additional Functionality within Script Tracker

- Save each recipients script as an individual Adobe PDF file for emailing
- Allow multiple production assistances to share the same Script Tracker User and group names held and shared on a single server
- Create audit reports of who received the script and when
- Create Version control and Script distribution reports
